

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OVERSIGHT AND MICROMANAGEMENT IS TRUST

I help nonprofits build high-trust board-staff partnerships through effective systems, communications, reporting, governance practices, and decision-making processes.

Call me if ...

Recruitment & Engagement

- You know you have to have board, but you're not sure who should be on it or what to do with them.
- You're not sure whether your board is too involved or not involved enough.
- Board attendance is slipping and you're not sure why.

Communications & Trust

- Your board meetings feel like presentations instead of discussions.
- Staff spend significant time answering questions that seem to never go away.
- Your board packet keeps getting longer without become more useful.

Reporting & Oversight

- Your finance committee spends more time deciphering reports than discussing strategy.
- You have a strategic plan but no one can say what changed because of it.
- Important decisions get bogged down because people don't trust the information in front of them.

Why Clients Hire Me

- I build board systems that make it easier for board members to prioritize and engage with the work.
- I help leaders create clear reports that give boards the information they need to become true partners in the work.
- I provide turnkey tools that make board recruitment strategic, intentional, and aligned with future organizational needs.

FROM OVERSIGHT TO TRUST

Great boards don't happen by accident. They emerge when board members and staff share information, build trust, and focus on the decisions that matter most.
